Introduction

(a) Background

The village of York in the Natal midlands was established in 1850 by Wesleyan settlers from the UK who arrived on the good ship Haidee. After initially erecting a temporary chapel, they later built a picturesque stone chapel in 1866. After initially flourishing and then stagnating, the village was eventually reduced to a virtual 'ghost town'. The fate of the Wesleyan chapel followed that of the village. It was last used for religious purposes in the late 1950s and was eventually demolished in the 1970s – a sad state of affairs for the village and chapel, both of which had, for many decades, been a focal point of the district.

(b) Source of this Document

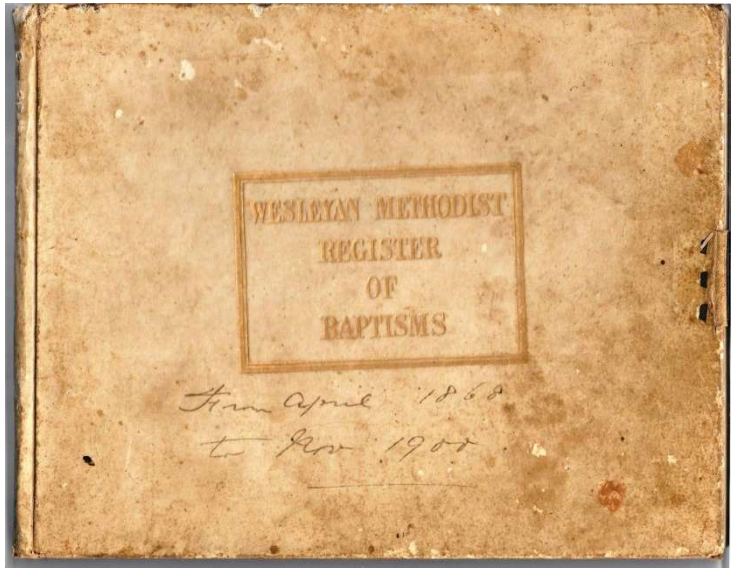
In 2004, after following up on some information, I discovered that, in 1968 some of the interior fittings of the, soon to be demolished, York Wesleyan chapel had been relocated to the newly built Dalton Methodist church. However, some of the chapel's documentation had apparently been sent to the Methodist church in Greytown.

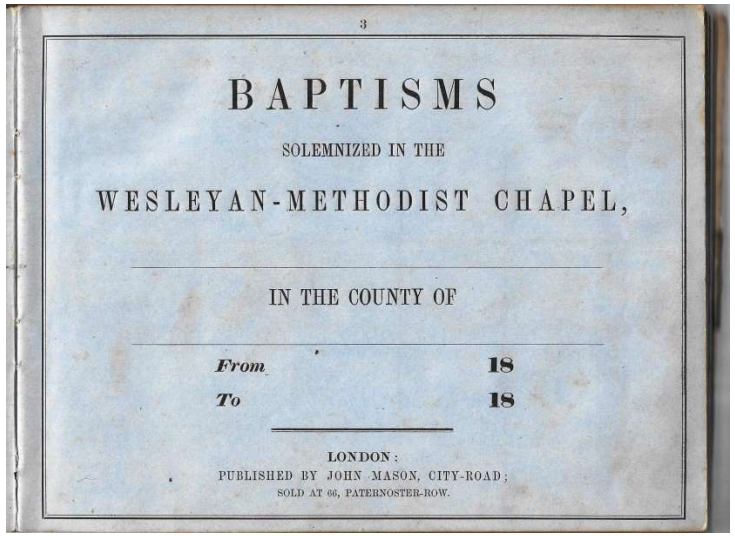
York Wesleyan Chapel (~1950). Photo on display in the Greytown Museum. This copy kindly sent to me by Val McLaren.

I made a trip to Greytown and the resident minister suggested that there may be some relevant material on the mezzanine floor in the adjacent church hall. I spent many hours going through boxes of musty old church documents and managed to locate several items originating directly from the York Wesleyan chapel. The minister indicated that much of this material was destined to be dumped and kindly allowed me to take anything of interest that I could find. How easily is our history lost?

Amongst the rescued volumes was a register that contained records of the baptisms carried out by Wesleyan ministers in the York Circuit between 1868 and 1900.

This 104 page book, 20 x 25 cm, has a small metal clasp and records the details of 398 baptisms carried out under the auspices of the York Wesleyan chapel from 1868 until 1900 – at which point the register was full. It includes the names of many individuals and families who remain well-known to this day. These include: Bell, Bentley, Boast, Boddy, Clark, Comins, Demont, Foord, Franklin, Garbutt, Geekie, Groom, Heslop, Hooper, Langley, Liddell, Liversage, Marshall, Muirhead, Peckham, Plummer, Smith, Taylor, Whitridge, Varty, et al.





Cover and title page of the Baptism Record Book

By chance, the first two entries record baptisms involving families who were particularly prominent in the early years of the village's establishment and growth. There were Clarice Mary Clark (LBG1-VJL), daughter of John Clark (93HG-Y2S) and Mary Vause Clark, nee Bell (93HG-Y2K), and Edward Boast (LL9Y-MVN), son of Dr. Charles Bird Boast (M9C7-DSG) and Catherine Jane Boast, nee Smith (GZ5T-TQJ).

The last baptism recorded also involves two families who were pillars of the early York community, namely Wesley Louis Demont (L27H-535), son of George Louis Demont (97L2-KS7) and Kate Demont, nee Franklin (L27Z-HYD).

(c) Comments

Each entry has been signed off by the incumbent minister. However, everything else seems (to me) to have been filled in by a single person, because the distinctive handwriting is essentially the same throughout the book. I suspect that each baptism was originally recorded as an individual certificate and that a pile of these certificates was then handed to the York Circuit secretary, who transcribed the information into this book from time to time – incurring some errors in the process.

Although a majority of the baptisms were probably conducted in the Wesleyan chapel in the village of York itself, others would have been conducted at other chapels in the York Circuit such as the short-lived meeting-houses that I believe existed on surrounding farms like Broughton, on the Pietermaritzburg side of York; Success, Benvie, Foord's Rest and Chard between York and Riet Vlei; Riet Vlei itself; Green Point at Seven Oaks and Noodsberg, etc. Some baptisms were also conducted in private homes.

(d) Errors

1. Some surnames are incorrectly spelt. For example, McCathy also appears as McArthy and McAthy whilst Crookes is given as Crook and Crooks. Some first names are also spelt incorrectly and 'nicknames' are occasionally used instead of the actual names as recorded elsewhere. For example Fanny for Frances and Annie for Anne, etc.

2. Several dates are obviously wrong because the child was apparently baptised before it was born! Since the dates of the baptisms are more or less in the correct chronological order, it is probably the date of birth which has been incorrectly recorded in these cases.

3. There is a gap in the records from August 1881 to January 1883. This is probably related to the fact that the York circuit had no resident minister during that period. Services were still conducted by visiting ministers but any baptisms were evidently not recorded.

4. It is logical to assume that the baptisms recorded in this book would in strict chronological order. However, there are many inconsistencies in this regard. I cannot understand how this is came about. It may have something to do with the baptismal records arriving with the Circuit secretary at different times from the different venues.

These anomalies occur despite being signed off by the resident minister, who probably just signed off batches of recorded entries from time to time without bothering to check the details.

(e) FamilySearch IDs

The genealogical web site, FamilySearch, contains records of a vast number of people, including many of those appearing in these records. I have included the FamilySearch IDs in the index as far as possible. This will allow people familiar with the site to quickly access further family information.

(f) Entry Numbers

The index is arranged in alphabetical order of surname. The last column gives an "Entry Number". This is the entry number in the original records. Clicking on this number, or looking it up in the attached scanned records, will allow you to view a copy of the original inscription which contains additional information.

(g) Apology

Whilst I have made every effort to transcribe this information correctly, I remain responsible for any possible errors in this regard. In the process of compiling the index, I have taken the liberty of correcting some of the errors in the original entries, using the authenticated information from FamilySearch.

I would be very grateful to receive any further corrections or updates. My current contact details are Email: gavin.peckham@gmail.com and WhatsApp: +44 79 4955 0221

Clicking on the blue "Entry No." in the last column takes you to a copy of the original baptismal record. Clicking on any name highlighted in yellow takes you to a photo of that person in the Gallery. Please be so kind as to send me photos of any other listed people available to you – my contact details are at the bottom of the previous page.
